ON-CAMPUS RADIO RETURNS

WPKN Radio at the University of Bridgeport consists of two stations. The regular FM station at 89.5 has a long reputation as a purveyor of diverse and sometimes obscure forms of music as well as numerous news and public affairs features. It's the station that listeners outside the campus community are familiar with, but those of us who live in the dormitories can now receive WPKN On-Campus Radio at 89.1 FM.

WPKN On-Campus Radio used to be heard at 540 on the AM dial, but its signal was spotty at best and its fidelity was low. But over the past two years the old AM transmitters have been replaced by limited-coverage FM transmitters, and the result is a much cleaner signal and more consistent coverage.

"WPKN On-Campus Radio operates with 100 milliWatt, high quality FM transmitters," explained General Manager Harry Minot. "And since these low-output devices don't require an FCC license, the station is free to operate like a regular commercial station. Because it's targeted specifically to the campus population, and because it's free of the noncommercial restraints that bind WPKN at 89.5, it can also tailor its sound to the musical preferences and informational needs of the students."

A staff of about two dozen has already been trained, and a dozen more will be trained within weeks. These programmers will be on the air from 6:00 a.m. until midnight or 3:00 a.m., providing everything from soft rock to heavy metal and hardcore punk, wrapped up with special advisories on campus events, party listings, club meetings, and phone calls and requests from the dorms.

"We can use some help to spread the word about WPKN On-Campus Radio," adds Minot. "We want to draw dormitory listeners away from WPLR, WVOF, and the other stations on the commercial end of the dial. We're at 89.1 FM in the dorms, and I think we have a lot to offer. Our staff is close to its audience, and ready to fill their needs." Minot says a special on-campus program guide will be delivered to all students and will be placed on all dorm bulletin boards.

The next two months will serve as a shake-down cruise for WPKN On-Campus Radio. Comments and suggestions about music formatting will help to create its sound and personality. Then, over the summer, additional transmitters will be placed in Cooper, Chaffee, Bruel-Rennell, and the taller dormitories for a further improvement in coverage. WPKN On-Campus Radio invites students to volunteer by signing up on the list on the office door on the second floor of the Student Center. There's no minimum time requirement, and no previous experience is necessary.

Comedy...and other Dangerous Stuff

Edward Jackman possesses the rare ability to juggle seven orange balls and seven one-liners at the same time. Last Saturday night in the Social Room, Jackman kept his U.B. audience dodging his weird jokes and occasional misplaced juggling paraphernalia.

Juggling seven balls was just the beginning as Jackman kept the audience amazed with his juggling skills and improvisational comedy. The audience remained glued to their seat throughout the 90 minute performance. Of course, two U.B. students attempted to leave half-way through the performance and Jackman chased them across the crowded room and back to their seats.

Ending the performance with his trademark, balancing a ten-speed bicycle on his forehead while juggling three tennis rackets kept the audience demanding more. In fact, Jackman stayed on stage for an hour after his performance demonstrating more of his juggling skills and talking with people from the audience.

Edward Jackman amazed the crowded Social Room with extraordinary feats. A juggler since age fifteen, Jackman has worked hard and has become the only performer to win the International Jugglers' Championships at two consecutive competitions.

This Is Your Student Life

The University of Bridgeport, Dean of Student Life Office is now acting as a Clearinghouse of Volunteer Opportunities for students. Sandra Shulman is the coordinator for volunteer programs this semester.

1. Bridgeport Youth at Risk Program—The 1988-89 Bridgeport Youth at Risk Program will involve 85 youth at risk participants between the ages of 15 and 19 who reside in Father Panik Village and who are current students at or drop-outs from Harding High School. The program begins approximately June 17, 1988 and the work with the youths is for at least fifteen months. For further information, and presentation about the program, call Professor Stuart Filler, 576-4442.

2. BACCHUS (Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students) U.B. chapter needs interested students. Its purpose is to advocate responsible behavior among those who choose to drink. Students who are interested in serving on the chapter steering committee should contact Bill Fargo in the Student Activities Office, x4486.

3. Bridgeport NHS (Neighborhood Housing Services)—Seeks applicants for a Summer internship program to work on computerization of their office at 38 Myrtle Ave. Familiarity with IBM, PC XT, word processing, and Lotus 123, for business application is essential. Contact Paul DeGennaro, x4069 or Steve Tylliszczak, 367-7052 for an application. $2,000 stipend.

4. Southern Connecticut Substance Abuse Center—An outpatient substance abuse treatment facility, in Trumbull, CT, offers group and individual counseling as well as family and adult children of alcoholic families. Interested in human services and related majors for volunteer experiences.

This Clearinghouse newsletter will be printed and posted on a regular basis highlighting the many different volunteer opportunities available in our community. If you know of one that you want to list, give Sandra a call at 576-4069. Community service is alive and well at U.B. thanks to the many faculty, staff and students who make it a part of their lives.

Dear Editor,

As a cinema major in my senior year, I have found myself dealing with just about every department and agency on campus over the past four years. With few exceptions I have received the utmost in cooperation and courtesy while making films. The freedom with which we are allowed to operate inside the university community is reflected in the outstanding achievements of this department. We are proud of what we've accomplished. It is with this in mind that I must point out a relationship that has been less warm over the years.

Rubes®

Campus Security is one of those departments that seems to go out of its way to discourage film production on this campus.

We realize the tremendous burden of policing this campus leaves little room for dealing with the creative needs of the student body. However, there are serious problems that need to be addressed.

Specifically, there is a student production underway that has used many campus buildings as locations. Since it is Campus Security that locks and unlocks most buildings, the student has had to deal through this department almost every weekend. With perplexing consistency, Campus Security has misplaced or lost permission slips for access to these places. When this happens, the student has lost valuable time and has had to reschedule at great expense.

A most recent example of this kind of incompetence happened just this past weekend when a student had hand delivered a memo to Campus Security for the use of Mandeville Hall for a classroom scene. When he and his crew arrived they found the building locked. Campus Security claimed ignorance and the student was forced to use Marina Dining Hall as a substitute.

We realized that part of the reason for this belligerence may be the track record of a handful of student shoots that have failed to use the proper channels for filming on campus. But this is not a reason for hindering productions that are willing to respect procedure and facilities. We feel it is in the Security Office's best interest to reexamine their memo filing system. We look forward to a more productive working relationship in the future.

Sincerely,
Matt Mania

Italian Graduate Scholarship Offered

A two month scholarship for study in Italy is being offered for the third year by the Italian Graduate Scholarship Committee. The study site will be the Scuola Di Lingua E. Cultura Italiana Per Stranieri (School in Italian Language and Culture for Foreigners) at the University of Siena, Siena, Italy.

To be eligible, an applicant must be enrolled at UB as an undergraduate or in the graduate school or be a UB graduate. The applicant must be of Italian origin and under the age of 35 by the end of December, 1987.

The scholarship recipient will receive tuition, room, and board provided by the Scuola Per Stranieri, and air fare ticket from New York to Rome. Transportation from Rome and Siena will be provided by the Italian Scholarship Committee. All other expenses are the responsibility of the recipient.

Applications are now available from the International Office, 85 Park Ave. and must be received completed in the International Office by May 1. Selection of the recipient will be made by June 1.

UB Board of Associates Dialogue Series Holds Program

Jack E. McGregor, President of The Bridgeport Hydraulic Company, the largest investor-owned water utility in Connecticut will be the keynote speaker at the University of Bridgeport's Board of Associates Dialogue Series titled "Why Does The Bridgeport Hydraulic Company Own All That Land?" The program will be held on Tuesday, March 29 at 12 noon in the duPont Tower Room of the Bernhard Center, 84 Iranistan Ave.

The program will address what role The Bridgeport Hydraulic Company will play in Bridgeport's future due to the rapid industrial and residential changes facing Bridgeport and the region.

McGregor, is a graduate of Yale University where he received his B.S. degree and a L.L.B. degree from the University of Pittsburg School of Law.

The UB Board of Associates represents more than 345 individuals who are active in the industrial, financial, commercial, professional and social life of the community.

The program is open to the general public. The luncheon fee is $10 per person. Call for reservations by March 22 at 576-4513.

Olin Gift Establishes Environmental Science Program

A graduate program in environmental science will be established at the University of Bridgeport with a $45,000 grant from the Olin Corporation Charitable Trust.

The program will include course work, a lecture series, and a monetary prize for the student who proposes the best solution to a real environmental problem.

The grant was presented recently by Dr. Irving Shain, Olin Corporation's chief science advisor, to UB's president, Dr. Janet D. Greenwood.

The program, to be known as Studies in Environmental Science, will begin in the fall of 1988 under the direction of the University's division of Biology and Allied Health Technologies, which part of the College of Health and Human Services.

The new program will be open to graduate students in biology, engineering and related disciplines and to members of the general public with the appropriate academic background.

A lecture course in environmental principles and issues will begin the program, serving as background for a second semester course entitled, "Problems and Perspectives in Environmental Science."

There will be three parts to the "Problems and Perspectives" course: three Olin-funded lectures on environmental science; hands-on laboratory experience with specialized equipment used in the environmental field; and competition for the Olin Prize for Excellence in Environmental Science.

Dr. Hugo James, director of the university's Division of Biology and Allied Health Technologies, explained that the case studies for the award competition will be considered the final examination for the second semester course.

Dr. James said the competition would give students the experience of "evaluating a real problem in the environment as if they were environmental professionals seeking the best solutions."

He added that the three annual lectures on environmental science will be open to the public. The entire program will be administered by Dr. Jinnque Rho, associate professor of biology in the College of Health and Human Services. Dr. Rho and professors from UB's College of Science and Engineering will serve as teachers for the interdisciplinary course work.

Olin for several years has been funding an interdisciplinary course in ethics and the environment at Fairfield University. Like the UB program, that course also includes an Olin lecture series on environmental topics.

Carmella Piacentini, Olin's manager of corporate contributions and community relations, explained that one of the top priorities for Olin's charitable funds in the promotion of excellence in scientific and environmental education.

Shastri Scholarship Student to Speak at UB

Deepak Bhatia of New Delhi, India, this year's Shastri Scholarship student, will speak at the Shastri Committee's Silver tea and program on Sunday, April 10, at 3:00 p.m. in the John J. Cox Student Center. He is doing his graduate studies in Computer Engineering at U.B.

Sharing the program with him are two other Halsey students, J.P. Johnson of the Irish Committee and Sandra Stanghellini of the Italian Committee.

The program has been arranged by Prof. Stanley Brush. Anyone interested may attend by calling the HISP office Ext. 4526 for further information.

Student Council Minutes March 16, 1988

The meeting was called to order at 9:09 p.m. by President Rhonda Baxter. The minutes of March 2, 1988 were adopted.

President's Report:

The debate concerning honors levels was brought before the University Senate today. The Senate reaffirmed its authority regarding such legislation. Therefore, effective immediately, honors levels are restored to 3.2 cum laude, 2.5 magna cum laude and 3.7 summa cum laude. In addition, the QPR necessary for Dean's List nomination, shall be retroactively reinstated to 3.2. Anyone who was denied Dean's List nomination last semester due to the unauthorized elevation of QPR qualifications, from 3.2 to 3.4, should report the situation to his/her Dean's office for correction.

The Executive Committees of the Student Council and the Student Bar Association met with President Greenwood and University Vice-Presidents regarding the budget situation. Student organizations still maintain their current budget balances, however, a more rigorous approval procedure is in effect.

In order to assist the University Community in this time of fiscal challenge, the Student Council introduces STUDENT COUNCIL TO THE RESCUE. This will be a volunteer project to assist in various tasks throughout the University. Further information is forthcoming in a Scribe advertisement, or interested parties may contact Rhonda in the Student Council Office at x4818.

Vice-President's Report:

The Pakistani Student Club Constitution is still being worked on. Student Center Director, Marilyn Gordon, seeks names of persons who have assisted with student events during the year, so they may be invited to the Annual Student Leadership Reception.

Trends And Research in Substance Abuse Topic of UB Program

The latest discoveries and trends in cocaine addiction and other substance abuse will be the topic of a slide lecture and discussion to be presented at the University of Bridgeport April 15 at 10 a.m. by Dr. Frank Galvin, director of Stimulant Abuse Treatment at the Yale University School of Medicine and a pioneer in the study of drug abuse.

The program will be presented in room 100 of the Nursing Building at the University of Bridgeport, Linden Avenue.

Symptoms of cocaine abuse, patterns among regular users, and new methods of coping with the rising tide of youths addicted to crack, the relatively inexpensive cocaine derivative, will form the basis for discussion. A questions and answer session will follow.

Dr. Gavin, who also serves as medical director of Out-Patient Services at Addiction Prevention Treatment Foundation (APT), in New Haven, is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. He completed his medical internship at the University of Hawaii and received a Post Doctoral Fellowship in Psychiatry at Yale University, specializing in Neuropharmacology. He is currently a faculty member at the Yale University Medical School.

Dr. Gavin is a pioneer in the use of Desipramine and other pharmaceuticals for treatment of cocaine abuse. Along with Dr. Herbert Kleber, Dr. Galvin created the current psychiatric conceptualization of cocaine withdrawal.

The public is invited to attend the lecture presentation at no cost.

Newly I.R.S. Rules On Taxes Will be Topic of Video At UB

Newly-released I.R.S. rules on Passive Activity Losses will be the topic of a four-hour program telecast to the University of Bridgeport School of Law on Thursday, April 7, at noon to 4 p.m. in room 126. The program, "Coping with the New Passive Loss Regulations: Pitfalls and Strategies," will be presented by the ALABA Video Law Review.

This program is designed for tax and non-tax practitioners, as well as C.P.A.'s, and will provide a comprehensive overview on real life situations and give an analysis of the various pitfalls contained in regulations. It will also provide and guide all on how to complete the newly-issued Form 8582 on Passive Activity Loss Limitations to be attached to the 1987 tax returns.

The program Chairman is Richard E. Levine of the Miles & Stockbridge law firm. Panelists will be David H. Eval of the law firm of Liddell, Sapp, Zivley, Hill & LaBoon; Michael J. Grace, Attorney-Advisor of the Legislation and Regulations Division of the I.R.S. and Ronald Turlington of the law firm Brown & Wood.

The program is structured for a question and answer format allowing the program viewers the opportunity to submit questions by telephone.

Cost of registration is $135, which includes study materials that will be distributed at the viewing site.

For more information and to register, call 203-576-4641.

UB Law to Sponsor Trip to the Soviet Union

The University of Bridgeport School of Law, Division of Continuing Education in arrangement with Academic Travel Abroad, Inc. will sponsor a trip to the Soviet Union July 23-Aug. 26. Participants will have the opportunity to study the history of Russian architecture, culture and to learn more about Soviet legislation. As well as such famous tourists attractions as the Kirov Theater, the Imperial Winter Palace, Catherine Palace, the Kremlin, the Church of Transfiguration and others will be on the itinerary.

Also among the famous attractions will be a night at the Kirov. Lectures on Russian life as well as visits to such historical cities as Leningrad, Kizhi, Moscow, Suzdal and Helsinki, Finland are planned.

The trip includes round trip air transportation from New York's JFK Airport. Total program cost will be $2,765.

A Talking Head Comes to UB

The Concert Committee recently confirmed Jerry Harrison: Casual Gods in concert on Saturday night, March 26, 1988 in the Harvey Hubbell Gymnasium. The keyboardist, guitarist and songwriter for the Talking Heads, Harrison released his second solo project in February, an album titled "Casual Gods." The hit single from the album, "Rev it up," has been receiving heavy airplay from album rock stations such as 99Rock WPLR and new music stations including WDRE, Long Island. In addition, "Rev it Up" has caught the attention of traditionally "finicky" college stations in Fairfield, New Haven and Bridgeport. Harrison's band, called Casual Gods, is comprised of members from the 1985 Talking Heads' concert film "Stop Making Sense."

Aside from his solo efforts, Harrison has also been active with the Talking Heads' latest release, an album titled "Naked." The Heads have not yet announced a tour to support the album, which affords Harrison the opportunity to take his own show on the road to select colleges and major city arenas around the country. Harrison has also kept busy producing records for groups such as Fine Young Cannibals, the Bodens and the Violent Femmes.

Speaking of the Violent Femmes, Gordon Gano, the Femmes' lead guitarist and vocalist, plays lead guitar and backs up Zena Von Hippininstall with vocals in the Mercy Seat, the opening act for Jerry Harrison: Casual Gods. Singing lead vocals with a gospel-punk feel, Zena moves her audiences with her voice, style and body.

Zena's musical style was influenced by many artists. "I fell head over heels for the Sex Pistols, the Dead Boys, the Cramps, the Talking Heads and the B52s," she says.

Tickets for the concert are currently on sale at the Student Center Information Desk. Prices are $4.00 for students with full-time UBID and ELS, $8.00 public. The tickets will cost $5.00 and $10.00 on the day of the show.

Norman Taylor Selected NECC Player of the Year, Belinda Hill & Liz Dick Make All NECC Teams

Bridgeport, CT—The 1987-88 New England Collegiate Conference has announced this year's all-league teams, players of the year, rookies of the year and coaches of the year.

For the second time in three years, New Haven's Joy Jeter has been named the NECC Women's Player of the Year. For the first time in his career, Bridgeport's Norman Taylor has been selected the Men's Player of the Year.

Jeter, a Beaver Falls, PA native, averaged 17 points and 11.4 rebounds this season for the 1987-88 NECC Champions.

Taylor, a senior co-captain from Manhattan, NY, led the NECC in scoring (25.7), rebounding (13.1) and field-goal percentage, for the third-straight season (66.2%).

The women's All-NECC first team is headed by two players from NECC Champion University of New Haven, two from New Hampshire College and University of Bridgeport's Belinda Hill.

New Haven's Charlene Taylor, the tournament's Most Valuable Player, was the overall leading votegetter on this year's ballot with six first-place votes and 30 points. Teammate and Player of the Year Joy Jeter followed Taylor with 26 points.

New Hampshire College's

Heidi Bristol and Julie Dabrowski round out the first team.

Liz Dick (Bridgeport), Jan Sadowski and Renee Bender (Keene State), Julie Ciarcia (NHC) and Missy Montini (Lowell) have been selected to the second team.

Norman Taylor, the men's leading votegetter (28) and Player of the Year is joined by Herb Watkins and Ken Coleman (New Haven) and members from this year's NECC Champions, Leo Parent and Bobby Licare (Lowell) on the men's All-NECC first team.

The second team is comprised of Tony Judkins (Sacred Heart), Gavin Cummings (Lowell), Bill Jeffress (New Haven), Kirk Jackson (New Hampshire) and Angelo Parenti (Southern Connecticut).

The 1987-88 Rookies of the Year award is presented to New Hampshire's Julie Ciarcia and Willie Scurry.

NECC Women Coach of the Year honors go to Keene State's John LeMieux who guided the Lady Owls to a semi-final appearance in this year's tournament and a 20-7 won-loss record.

The men's Coach of the Year, for the second straight year, is Lowell's Don Doucette.

Women's Gymnastics Profile

by John Ziobro
Sports Editor

Paula Biovin, Co-Captain of this year's team, has been an instrumental figure in UB's women's gymnastic team throughout her career.

She has been a member of the team for four years, including last year's team which finished third in the nation, and this year's team which looks as if it could repeat last year's accomplishment.

With a young team this year that includes four freshmen, Biovin's leadership qualities are greatly needed. She has become very influential in the team's success this year.

Biovin's best event is the vault, but her favorite is the uneven bars. She has vastly improved over her four year career. Where she used to rarely get a combined score of 30, this year she has been averaging around 33.

Paula is from Kingston New Gymnastic Club.

Hampshire, where she went to Sanborn Regional high school. Her gymnastic career started at the age of nine in Nhaag's

During her senior year in high school she was the New Hampshire vaulting champion.

Bridgeport's Norman Taylor Named E.C.A.C. North Player of the Year

Bridgeport, CT—University of Bridgeport's Norman Taylor has been named the 1988 Eastern College Athletic Association North Player of the Year.

Taylor, a 6-7, 240-pound senior power forward, led all of New England in scoring with a 25.7 point per game average in 28 games. He led the New England Collegiate Conference in scoring, rebounding (13.1) and field-goal percentage, for the third straight year, (66.2%).

The Manhattan, NY native was earlier named the NECC's Player of the Year for the first time in his four-year career.

Taylor finished his career as the all-time UB scorer with 2,170 points and third on the all-time rebounding list with 1,250.

He scored in double figures in every game this year and collected over 30 points eight separate times with a season-high 39 against the University of New Haven. He collected more than 10 rebounds in 25 of the 28 games he appeared in.
